Tanzritus – festlichen Charakter

You are the center of your universe and you have to know and feel this in order to have your creative forces operating well.

- Our body is the mirror of the soul. The Polynesian shamans, the Kahunas believed that the diseases come to change our lives. There is Whole-ness and not illness, where body and mind are in harmony.

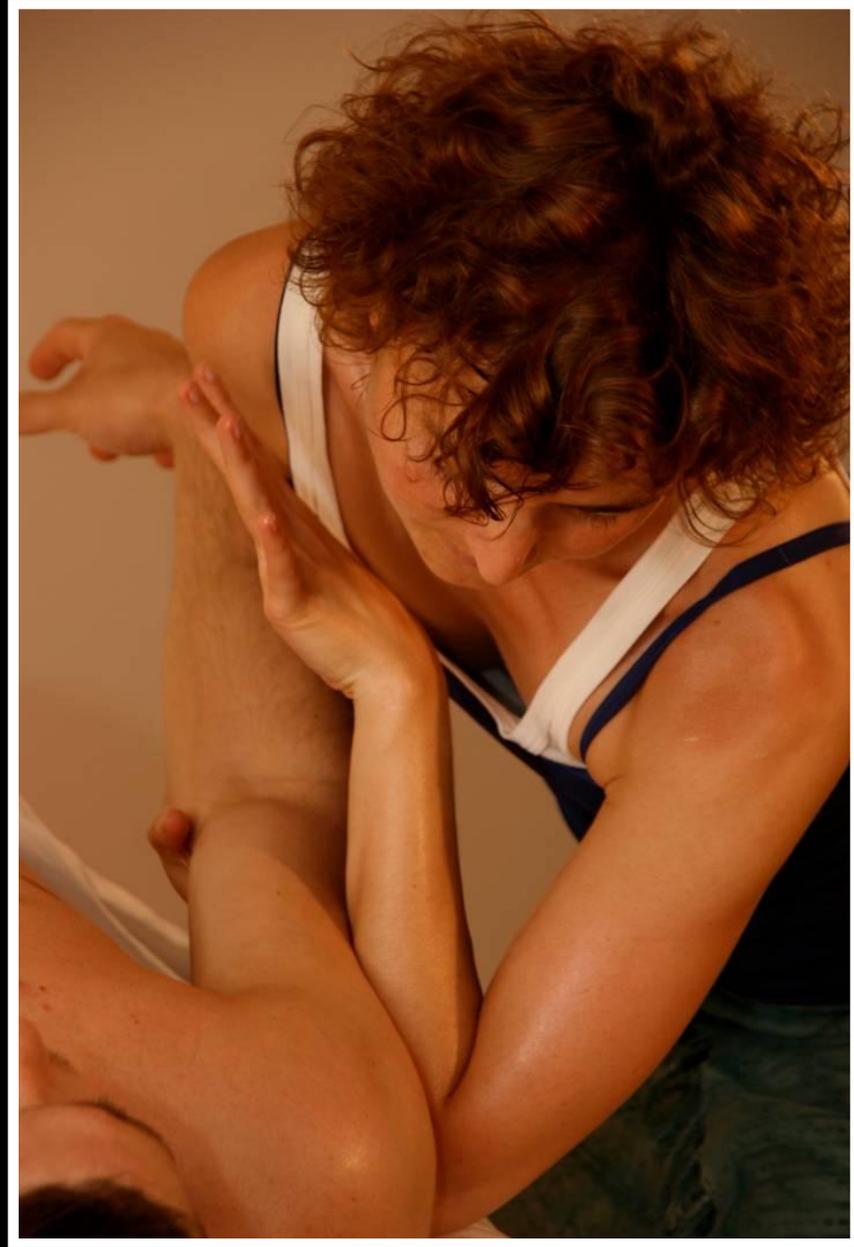

On the physical level the Ma-uri is a full body treatment, where every muscles, joints and bones benefit. Warm oil is carried out with a forearm technique which has a positive effect on the metabolism and circulation, has a beneficial effect on the skin, relaxes the muscles. .

We can release things which inhibit our joyful existence: the fear, the grievance, worries, shame. The release happens to an extent as you want and you let it happen.

By the touch she creates such circumstances where the soul's own healing process begins. We don't cure, we create the conditions for healing. The skin, the muscles, the bones possess such a memory which often cannot be reached on a conscious level. The Ma-uri by using the right music, touch and breath in the right moment gives way to long-buried memories to emerge on the surface and to be processed.

Dance of the soul starts for the rhythm of Polynesian music accompanied by a ritual dance, where each step and every movement has an essential role, the soul begins its dance: the Ma-uri.

The dancing masseur's touch feels like clashing waves. It evokes the cleansing power of the eternal water and the ocean.
